PARTICIPATED IN THE BATTLE OF TEBBS' BEND

J. Q. Swanger, Sr., Took Part in Many Important Engagements of Civil War.

With the approach of the old soldiers' reunion at Gettysburg, J. Q. Swanger, sr., recalls his fighting days when as a member of the 25th Michigan infantry, he participated in many battles. The work of this body of soldiers received high commendation from the colonel of the regiment. Among the battles participated in by the 25th infantry were these: Kingsston, Knoxville, Mossy Creek, Rocky Race, Resaca, Dallas, Allatoona, Culps Farm, Lost Mountain, Kenesaw Mountain, Nick-a-Jack Creek, Utter Creek, Decatur, Atlanta, Jonesboro, Aduck river, Nashville and Tebb's Bend. The latter battle was fought on July 4, 1863, when the enemy, over ten times the number of the 25th infantry, were defeated with a loss numbering greater than the force which engaged them. Regarding the conflict, one of the participants has the following to say:

"A few of the particulars of the battle of Tebb's Bend, on the Green river, between Gen. John Morgan, with his entire division, and Col. O. H. Moore, 25th Michigan infantry, with two hundred of his men, may be interesting.

"The battalion of the 25th Michigan infantry, stationed at or near the Green river bridge, occupied a position of much importance—all forces in front were drawn off and no reinforcements within 25 miles.

CITY ARRANGES TO INCREASE PRESSURE

Factory Pumps Will Aid Those of City in Effort to Maintain a Pressure of 40 Pounds at All Times.

Mayor John A. Herzog has made arrangements with the Dodge Manufacturing Co. and the Mishawaka Woolen Manufacturing Co. whereby the water conditions of the city will be relieved and the low pressure which has heretofore existed will be done away with according to the arrangements a pressure of 40 pounds is to be maintained at all times. When the city pumps are unable to supply this grade of pressure the factory pumps will be brought into service.

Although the local pumping station is working at its fullest capacity and which is somewhat more than last year, conditions this summer are worse than ever before and in consequence the pumps are being exerted to their limit.

It is only at certain hours of the day that the pressure is very low and is noticed especially between the hours of 8 and 12 and from 2 to 7:30. This is due in a measure to the great number of consumers who are using the water at the same time. Fully 2,100 water takers are listed in the city.

GARBAGE COLLECTION TO BEGIN TODAY

Street Commissioner Otto
Munch in Charge of Two Wagons and Equipment of City for Handling Refuse.

Street Commissioner Otto Munch Tuesday morning begins the collection and disposal of garbage in the city. The service is started with two wagons. Street Commissioner Munch is anxious that the people co-operate with his department by draining all garbage as provided by the ordinance, and carefully wrapping same before placing in the garbage cans.

The city is experiencing difficulty in obtaining cans on schedule. Some days ago 500 cans were ordered at a special price, but the cans have failed to arrive. The authorities concluded not to defer longer, however, the gathering of garbage, and residents are requested to place their garbage, properly drained and wrapped in receptacles near alleys and streets along which the wagons will pass. This will facilitate the gathering of the garbage. The street commissioner realizes that he has on hand a large amount of refuse which must be disposed of in a proper manner. By the aid of the housewives he hopes soon to be able to inform people in the city of the city on what day they can expect the wagon to arrive to receive garbage.

Under the ordinance the commissioner has the power to require the placing of garbage cans where he shall designate. No garbage will be hauled unless it is wrapped.

Rubbish and ashes, according to the terms of the ordinance, must not be placed in the garbage cans. Rubbish, such as tin cans, broken glass, and ashes, should be obtained at the city hall for the hauling of rubbish will be free. The hauling of garbage will be free.

Oscar, Sunday morning at 10 o'clock at the St. Joseph's Catholic church, Miss Irene Landgraf, attired in white silk, with wreath and veil and carried a bouquet of white roses, was warmly welcomed in the following language:

"Hail to him whom God hath chosen, And his word hath sanctified, O God, thou art forever, May his peace with thee abide! Wondrous power to thee is given, Which e'en angels dare not claim, Power to break sin's galling fetters, And to cleanse each stain of shame, Grateful hearts shall bless thy name.

"Christ's almighty word thus speaketh, Lo, the heavens open wide, And the blessed Lord of glory 'Noah the earth's lowly forms doth hide. Loving angels hover round thee, Veil their gaze in awe and fear, Bend before the dazzling splendors Of their God who tarries here. Surely heaven itself is here.

"Thou dost bless the grave, the cradle— Angel-like, thou benedict o'er, Death's sad couch, and aidest fondly Those whom friends can aid no more. Father of the poor and homeless, Thou dost try the hidden tear, Thou givest light when all is darkness, Where thou art, there God is near, Bliss be thine in heaven and here!

"Rev. Father, may thy days be happy, Fought with blessings all divine, May a flock that's true and faithful Still for many years be thine. Accept this wreath of love and faith, As an emblem of the crown. Awaiting thee in heaven Beset with gems of priceless worth. And these lovely spotless roses, Will eternally thy pure love I shall offer to our Blessed Lady For thy welfare, Rev. Father, Mary, spotless, purest mother, Oh, extend thy love and protection To us, thy faithful servants to the end."
